

OSHA requires all healthcare practices to provide their employees with an eyewash station. The eyewash station must be capable of flushing both eyes simultaneously with tepid water for 15 minutes. Eyewash stations must be clearly marked, and employees must be instructed on its use.

If a custom eyewash station is not available or practical for your practice, a lab or office sink with constant running water may be an appropriate alternative.
